WE NOMINATE

Irving Warren Mershon, a lifelong resident of this community, whose service to Princeton—and to Princeton's younger generations—is measured in decades rather than in years. Personifying as well as any living Princetonian "rugged individualism", and as distinctively American as a baseball doubleheader or a wedge of apple pie, Mershon, now in his 79th year, retired late in February from the Borough Board of Education and thereby wrote "finis" to a remarkable service record. In 30 years, including 21 as either District Clerk or Secretary of the Board, he missed exactly two meetings, a mark representing 99.99% of perfection.

Interested in education "as long as I can remember" and with the exception of a single year a voter in every Borough school board election since 1904, Mershon was first elected to the Board in 1931, and, from that point on, made "our schools" an integral part of his life's work. One associate finds an "apparent parallelism between Mr. Mershon and the legendary Mr. Chips"; another notes that his minutes of Board meetings "constitute a history of the school-system and also reflect a wonderful sensitivity to human nature"; while a third points out that "constantly things pop up to show how much he has done on his own to help teachers and students."

It is with good reason that at the February 23d meeting of the Federated Boards of Education of New Jersey Mershon was cited on the basis of "high competence, rich experience, deep wisdom, and human understanding." Even more meaningful was the recent decision of the Borough Board to dedicate a music room, in the new High School to his contributions in the field of music, his "first love" after "our schools". And greater significance to his fellow townsmen, is the still-unannounced plan to create, with the assistance of the Teachers' Association of Princeton, an on-going memorial to his deep concern for the well-being of this area's schools.

A descendant of a pioneering New Jersey family, which acquired land here in 1696 (some three decades before Princeton was mapped as Princeton), and born in the first house built on William Street, Mershon was graduated with the Class of 1898 from the "Old Model School". He studied at what is now Trenton's Rider College and joined the First National Bank of Princeton, leaving the latter after 17 years to join the Federal Food Survey in New England and the next fall the O. H. Hubbard Agency (real estate and insurance), that early in May, 1961, will commemorate the 74th anniversary of its founding on Nassau Street.

Mershon, past Master of a local Masonic Lodge and "for two dozen years or so" a Trustee of the Methodist Church of Princeton, fully understands the connotations of the recently announced Federal aid to education bill. However, it is his conviction, ever since he started during Woodrow Wilson's campaigns to "vote as I see them", never to adhere to any kind of party-line. In fact, it his belief, after some 60 years as an active, practice-going member of the Methodist Church Choir, that the "good old days" would be an inadequate substitute indeed for the Princeton of 1961.

For endowing his personal life and public affairs with a rare kind of spiritual quality; for his insistence that there can be no compromises in "the pursuit of excellence"; for relating secondary education to the challenges of the present; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

Figures on Hospital Election Results

The vote tally for the close Hospital election was made by the New York accounting firm of Harris, Kerr, Forster and Co. After they had spent an hour and a half Monday night counting the 699 ballots, they summoned Edgar S. Smith of the Trustees, Thomas P. Cronk of the Friends of the Hospital and Woodruff J. English, special counsel for the meeting, shnwed them the close tally and asked whether they wanted a re-count.

Without looking at any candidates' names, the three men examined the totals and decided on the recount. The corporation meeting was then adjourned at 11:30 p.m. and the tellers moved from the Playhouse to the law offices of Smith, Stratton and Wise where the counting resumed. The final count was made shortly after 2 a.m. Tuesday.

TRUSTEES ELECTED

To Hospital Board. In an election so close that a recount had to be held to determine the winners, five trustees were elected Monday night to three-year terms on the Board of Trustees of Princeton Hospital. (See box, this page.)

The winners are Dr. Robert S. Garber, Richard A. Lester, Bernard Kilgore, Leslie L. Vivian, Jr. and George R. Griffing.

Both Mr. Kilgore and Mr. Griffing are incumbents. With Mr. Vivian, they had the backing of the Hospital Trustees. Dr. Garber and Mr. Lester were endorsed by the Friends of Princeton Hospital.

The corporation meeting was orderly, but spirited. The Trustees had invited representatives of the Friends of Princeton Hospital to join them in preparing the agenda and arranging the meeting, and there was no criticism from the floor on meeting procedure.

At first, the questions from the floor concerned voting membership in the corporation, but later the whole question of relationship between medical staff, trustees and administration was brought into the open.

Membership Fee Questioned. Ledlie Laughlin of Drakes Corner Road, former Trustee, objected — to the accompaniment of applause from the audience— to the by-laws' requirement of a special membership fee of $5.

"Lots of people have contributed more than five dollars yearly to the Hospital," Mr. Laughlin said, "but they can't vote because they haven't paid that special $5 membership fee."

John H. Wallace, Jr., president of the Board of Trustees, replied that the Board was sensitive to this problem and would make every effort to settle it satisfactorily.

Norvell B. Samuels, chairman of the special committee that studied the membership problem (see story on page 3) said that over 1,400 members would be added to the corporation if the Trustees adopted the proposal to grant membership to all families who contributed $100 to the United Fund in a given year. He said that 803 persons had given this amount to the fund.

Mrs. Dennis Flenagan then moved that the Trustees be urged to continue the membership-study committee and that two new members be added, one of whom should be a member of the Friends of Princeton Hospital. The motion was submitted to voice vote, and Woodruff J. English, Hospital counsel, declared the "ayes" winners.

Chief Pathologist Sought. Paul Tillett, 1 Harris Road, then asked the Board whether it was true that medical certifying organizations had refused to approve the appointment of a chief pathologist to replace Dr. Thomas S. Harvey. Dr. Hervey was dismissed as chief Hospital pathologist last year by the Board of Trustees over the question of his management of the department.

Mr. Wallace said that the Trustees did have some notification from a professional society that the group "would not look with favor" on the employment of a successor to Dr. Harvey and that the Board was giving the matter careful study.

Mr. Tillett asked Mr. Wallace whether the Trustees had met with representatives of the medical society concerned, and Mr. Wallace said they had not, although it was possible that they might in the furture. He said that the Trustees planned to obtain a pathologist to replace Dr. Harvey as soon as possible. The Hospital's pathology department is now operating with only one pathologist.

Mrs. J. Seymour Montgomery, 55 Westcott Road, asked the Trustees whether they could report the substance of a vote taken by Hospital doctors concerning the administration.

At this point, Edgar S. Smith vice-president of the Board of Trustees, asked Dr. Guy K. Dean, retiring chief of the Medical Staff, to discuss the meeting at which the doctors' vote was taken.

Dr. Dean explained that this was a special meeting held on November 21 and attended by more than just the 37 voting members of the medical staff, and that the executive committee of the medical staff did not regard it as an official meeting. There were hisses from the audience after this remark.

Resignations Urged. Mr. Smith then quoted a resolution adopted, 38-2, at the special meeting to which Dr. Dean referred. In this resolution, the doctors stated their belief that the relations between the administration and the professional staff had deteriorated to the point where the welfare of the Hospital was in danger. They urged the board of Trustees to request the resignation of John Kauffman, Hospital administrator, and Mr. Wallace, president of the Board of Trustees.

Previously, at their regular quarterly meeting, Mr. Smith said, the staff had expressed their unanimous confidence in Dr. Harvey and had asked for a meeting between the staff and the administration to discuss Dr. Harvey's dismissal.

A Vote of Confidence. Mr. Smith went on to say that the Trustees, acting on a motion by Dr. Wilbur H. York, affirmed the action they had taken in dismissing Dr. Harvey and unanimously rejected as "out of order" the resolution asking for the dismissal of Mr. Kauffman and the resignation of Mr. Wallace.

Thirteen out of 15 Hospital department heads have signed a letter expressing their loyalty to Mr. Kauffman, Mr. Smith said. Dr. Ellwood W. Godfrey, chairman of the department of radiology, did not sign the letter. The 15th department head was out of town when the letter was written.

The Board has passed a resolution endorsing Mr. Kauffman as administrator and expressing confidence in his abilities, said Mr. Smith. At the same time, however, the Board expressed its awareness of the doctors' criticism of Mr. Kauffman and announced that Board members were prepared to cooperate with both the doctors and Mr. Kauffman to reduce future misunderstandings.

"I would be guilty of gross flim-flam if I pretended that we've had nothing but sweetness and light in the Hospital in the last few months," declared Mr. Smith, "and I have mixed feelings as to whether a public discussion contributes to the welfare of the Hospital or the comfort of the Trustees. You either support your administration or ask them to resign; or you resign yourself."

Mr Smith then said that Mr. Wallace's qualifications as president, his industry and his dedication have not been questioned by the Trustees. "There is complete unanimity among the trustees in our support of the president and the administration," Mr. Smith declared.

Mr. Smith said he was surprised at the quarrell between doctors and staff, because there was at the Hospital a joint conference committee which met monthly to consider the relationships between doctors and administration.

"Why didn't the doctors clear their problems through this committee?" asked Mr. Smith.

Were Doctors Asked? George Warfield, 19 Longview Drive, asked the Trustees for specific reasons why they had retained Dr. Anthony J. J. Rourke to study the Hospital. Mr. Wallace said that he had been hired to study the interrelations among doctors, trustees and administration and to review the by-laws.

"Were the doctors consulted before Dr. Rnurke was retained?" Mr. Warfield asked.

Mr. Wallace said that the Board considered this matter solely within its own jurisdiction and did not feel that consultation was needed.

"Cause for Pride." At the conclusion of the meeting, Dr. J. Leonard Moore of the Hospital's pediatrics department said that members of the corporation should realize that Princeton Hospital is one the community can be proud of, despite its antiquated structure and overcrowded conditions. He commended the trustees for their devotion and the members of the administration for their forward-looking policies, and asked for continuity of membership on the Board of Trustees.

Thomas Cook, co-chairman of the Friends of Princeton Hospital, said that the Friends "reaffirm our overall purpose of working with the Board of Trustees for the benefit of the Hospital." He said that, because five "highly qualified and dedicated trustees have now been elected by a large number of interested citizens", the Friends were closer to achieving two of their main objectives: wide community partcipatiom in the government of the Hospital and establishment of balance between continuity and rotation of Trustees.

"What unites us as members of the Hospital corporation," said Mr. Cook, "is far stronger than any differences we have had heretofore."

Mr. Cook said that some Trustees and representatives of the Friends have already been conferring on the proposed revision of the by-laws and other matters of mutual interest.

Mr. Wallace, in a statement issued shortly before the Board's organization meeting Tuesday night, said:

"At our meeting tonight, we will welcome our three new members, Dr. Gaither, Mr. Lester and Mr. Vivian. I am sure, with their help, and the united support of the community, we can solve our present problems and those which are sure to arise in the future."

At Tuesday's meeting, Mr. Wallace was unanimously re-elected president of the Board.

ROUND-UP

Friday's soaring thermometer reached 69, warmest since November 16. . .Saturday's 62 was almost as tropical but a lot wetter. . .in contrast to the unprecendented January span of sub-freezing temperatures without a break, no reading below 32 has been recorded here for the past nine days. . . February bowed out with precipitation well above normal but despite January's snows, the total for the first two months of the year is below average.

Those yawning pot holes left in streets by the abnormally cold weather are getting attention but nothing permanent can be done until the possibility of more frost has ended . . .meantime, "dentists" in the Borough's Engineering Department have filled the cavities with 32 tons of temporary blacktop.

Several Nassau Street merchants had more than their share of problems during the past week: Meyer Goldstein, proprietor of Viedt's, had a fire start in the basement of his restaurant when a cardboard container placed too close to the furnace broke into flames. . .police and one piece of fire apparatus handled the blaze, which scorched the basement ceiling, did little other damage. . .Umberto Roberto, owner of Hinkson's, had $25 in change removed from his cash register, the thief entering through a rear window after raising a protective grate.

The Thorne Pharmacy lost a $50 transistor radio to a shoplifter and the Photography and Art Center forfeited an $80 camera to the same operator, a Philadelphia resident who was also involved in dormitory theft on the Princeton campus and has since been caught. . .Sgt. James Kopliner of the Borough police linked the culprit to the series of crimes on both sides of Nassau Street.

John H. Marks, 107 Moore Street, is still puzzled by discovery of a television set on his back porch. . .he found it there one night, minus most of the tubes, and police have had no luck in locating the owner.

Mrs. Carl E. Brown, 28 Birch Avenue, found a handbag on Bayard Lane containing money, a watch and eyeglasses all belonging to Mrs. Fred L. Hunt, 34 Wilson Road. . . Mrs. Thomasine C. Brooks, 15 University Place, found another on Nassau Street belonging to a Westwood, N.J., woman . . .two of the 47 men who took the examination for vacancies on the Township police department will be announced at a later date as successful applicants for the positions.

PERSON TO PERSON

We received an excerpt from an article in McCalls by Arthur Godfrey which a friend said was worth repeating, so we gladly quote it: "There isn't a soul alive who don't know in his heart that the greatest satisfaction always comes from love for and service to others."

Arthur has restated a truism that has been proven over and over again by every man who has ever given it a real try. But of course, it isn't always easy to live up to it; our human logic seems to disagree most of the time, and we are not sure when we are being fooled by our own logic. Our friend who gave us the quote, said, "It's a funny thing, but just about everybody admits that's what they would rather do, even though they may seldom reach the actual 'doing'." Well, we're not as deep a philosopher as he is, but we believe that a majority of people do try to serve others as they would like to be served.

Certainly in our business the serving of other's best interests is basic to everything we do, and we get considerable pleasure from seeing the satisfaction you enjoy when you deal with us. Come in soon!

CORPORATION FILLS PLAYHOUSE: Over 1,000 residents of the Princeton community, including 699 of the 863 members of the Princeton Hospital Corporation, filled the Princeton Playhouse Monday night for the Hospital's annual meeting. Balloting for trustees was held in the Playhouse lobby during the course of the session. Two Borough policemen were in attendance to assist the crowds as they moved from voting in the lobby to listening in the auditorium. Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., owners of the Playhouse, donated use of the theatre when it became apparent that interest in the annual meeting was so widespread that Hospital meeting rooms would not be large enough. TOPICS Of the Town

FLUORIDATION AGAIN

Township, Borough to Confer. The question of voluntary fluoride treatment through the use of pills was discussed by members of the Township Board of Health at Thursday's meeting.

Dr. William Kleinberg, chairman of the Board and advocate of the use of fluoride pills to prevent dental caries, said that he would confer with Dr. E. Frederick Laschever, chairman of the Borough Board of Health, with the head of the pediatrics department at Princeton Hospital and with other Princeton pediatricians ascertain what they thought about a voluntary pill program.

Under this program, as sketched broadly by the Board on Thursday night, the Township would pay for pills and distribute them to doctors and dentists who would, in turn, give the free pills to patients who ask for them.

According to a letter from the Board of Health of Clifton, N. J., which was read at the meeting, about half a million pills were distributed by request to Clifton doctors during the past year.

Dr. Elmer Alpert of the Township Board said he was not sure that dental caries, as a non-contagious disease, was a public health problem. If it was not, he questioned the jurisdiction of the Board of Health in the matter.

"If you're going to distribute free fluoride tablets, why not give out free multiple vitamins?" Dr. Alpert suggested. "They're preventive, too."

In additional business, the Board decided to draw up a simple explanation of the Township's requirements on percolation tests and septic tanks and send the memorandum to real estate agents and lawyers to prevent any misunderstanding of the Township's requirements.

TRUSTEES SAY "NO"

To Committee Recommendations. The Board of Trustees of Princeton Hospital announced, through the medium of its annual report presented Monday night at the meeting of the corporation, that it has turned down the recommendations of a special committee appointed to study the term of office of trustees and requirements for corporation membership.

The committee was appointed shortly after last year's annual meeting of the corporation in accordance with action taken on that occasion. In the annual report, the trustees say they are "not convinced that the solution offered was best for the Hospital."

Accordingly, the new Board of Trustees will ask the committee to study the problems further, to ask members of the corporation for their opinions and, possibly, to hold a meeting for thorough discussion. After these steps have been taken, the committee will then submit another set of recommendations to the Board and to a special meeting of the corporation to be held no later than June 1.

"This seems the best solution to an admittedly difficult problem," says John H. Wallace, Jr., president of the Board of Trustees in the Trustees' report.

Recommendation Made. In its report, the committee recommended that membership in the corporation be broadened by admitting for one year anyone who contributed $10 or more to the Hospital for any purpose. Those who contributed $100 or more for any purpose would automatically become life members, and those who contributed $100 to the United Fund would automatically become corporation members for one year. The membership fee itself would be raised from $5 to $10.

The committee also suggested that six current or past members of the Board of Trustees be elected by the Board itself to life membership on the Board. Nine other members would be elected by the corporation and divided into three classes, for purposes of rotation. No elected trustee would be allowed to serve more than two successive terms, although he could be elected again after he had been off the Board for one year.

Members of the committee were Norvell B. Samuels, chairman; Leighton N. Laughlin, Edgar S. Smith, J. Douglas Brown and George W. Conover.

On the medical side, Dr. Guy K. Dean, retiring president of the medical and dental staff, reports the election of his successor, Dr. Charles Place. Dr. Dean also announces, through the medium of his annual report, that all but one of the Hospital's residents have successfully passed the qualifying examinations for foreign doctors, "a record very much above the national average for all hospitals in the country," according to Dr. Dean.

Financially, according to the report of George W. Conover, treasurer, the Hospital ended the year 1960 with a deficit of $19,520.13. Total earnings were $2,283,248.07, and total expenses $2,302,868.20. Mr. Conover points out that, for the past five years, the Hospital has charged for each service only what the service actually costs. This means, says Mr. Conover, that such services as laboratory, X-ray and pharmacy do not subsidize room rates and this, in turn, means that room rates at Princeton Hospital may be higher than hospitals which do not follow this formula.

Report from THE MAYOR

Down But Up. Princeton Borough's share of the total county tax for 1961 is a fraction smaller than last year (5.54 percent as against 5.68 per cent in 1960). Because of the increase in the amount to be raised by Mercer County by taxation, however, the dollar cost to Borough taxpayers is up an estimated $16,725. Our estimated share totals $398,704 against last year's actual payments of $381,979.

Our Princeton Township neighbors may be interested to know that their percentage of the county tax will increase from 7.38 to 7.50 percent. The actual dollar increase for 1961 is estimated to be $43,649 (a total payment estimated to be $539,762 as against last year's Township payments of $496,113.)

Public Hearing. The public hearing on the Borough's budget for 1961 will be held at Borough Hall on Monday, at 8 p.m. The Mayor will again try to present the budget in summary form so that interested citizens may get a picture of the various items of local service costs.

In addition and because county government is an important but little known item constituting a sizeable part of the tax bill which the Borough must collect, a brief summary of the major items in that budget will be presented. The Finance Committee of Borough Council (Chairman Redding and Councilmen Sorenson and Godfrey) helped to prepare a tight budget.

Every item, we believe, can be defended as a necessary expenditure in the public interest. Mayor and Council would welcome the chance to explain any of these fiscal decisions to the citizen-stockholders of our enterprise.

On The Calendar. Following next Monday's hearings on the budget and salary ordinances, Mayor and Council will meet for the regular monthly agenda preparation session. The regular March meeting of Mayor and Council will be Tuesday, March 14.

The Borough Safety Committee will meet under Magistrate Tams' chairmanship this Wednesday, March 1, in the Borough Engineer's office. The Planning Board will meet at 8 p.m. next Tuesday.

Welcome. Following up the successful venture of last October, the hospitality committee of Princeton's chapter of the American Association for the United Nations scheduled a meeting in New York this week with David L. Guyer, adviser to the United States Mission to the U.N. The local group expects to schedule weekend visits from the various UN delegations on a year-round basis. A special Latin American weekend is on the agenda.

Another target date will be UN participation in the Princeton YWCA's International Festival on April 29. This community can continue to make an important contribution to World understanding through these visits.

Open House. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor!" sessions will be held on Friday, March 3, and Friday, March 10, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

Last week, the Mayor noticed several Princeton residents participating in the day-long seminar on the problems of migrant farm families held at the Cherry Hill Inn. New Jersey has been at the forefront in efforts to improve the lot of these men, women and children. Much remains to be done; and Princeton citizens in all walks of life are contributing their time and talent in this connection.

cents by mid-April to proceed with final plans for the multi-story $5 million building.

Over 125 requests for application blanks were received within a week of the initial announcement on February 16, according to O. Kline Fulmer, chairman of the board of trustees. Additional applications have been arriving at the rate of five to ten per day, and over 30 percent of these applicants reside in the Princeton area, Mr. Fulmer says.

Other applicants have written from as far away as Florida, California and New Hampshire. Most of the letters have come from university faculty members, but physicians, lawyers, authors, editors, librarians and a pianist have also applied. A few have asked for reservations for future memberships as far away as 1966.

Princeton Manor House will be built on a 25-30 acre site, as yet unselected. It will consist of small apartments with kitchenettes and sun balconies; recreation rooms, health facilities will be provided. Further information may be obtained from Princeton Manor House, 341 Nassau Street.

March could be a month of many things, including more fog, but hopes are for an early spring of the sort that last week's unseasonably warm weather forecast.

A false forecast? The Men wouldn't say, specifically, but he did agree that the next three or four days would bring above normal temperatures. Some rain is possible, too, over the weekend.

News Of The THEATRES

"TWELFTH NIGHT" GIVEN

In Shakespeare Series. The "Twelfth Night" that has been mounted by the Association of Producing Artists for McCarter Theatre is a broad, fast hawdy comedy, played so robustly for laughs that the sweetness of the poetry is sometimes hard to catch, but well-played nevertheless.

Stephen Porter has directed a troupe of incredibly vigorous comics who prat-fall, tumble, wrestle and otherwise test the structural soundness of the superimposed Elizabethan stage. Thayer David as Sir Toby Belch and Tucker Ashworth as Sir Andrew Aguecheek are splendidly foolish. Keene Curtis' Feste is prancing and clear-voiced, a blithe comic spirit. Eulalie Noble's Maria has a broad-hipped swagger and a touseled, full-throated delivery that set the stage a-tremble.

Ashworth is a particular delight, exhibiting again the flair for merriment he displayed so well in "A Midsummer Night's Dream." David, who is Falstaffian enough in build to bring considerable conviction to the part of Sir Toby, would he even better if he did not have an irritating voice mannerism which buries many of his words, and sometimes whole lines, in a mass of hot mush.

It is Viola, of course, who is entrusted with much of the poetry of this enchanting comedy and Rosemery Harris has a natural feeling for the lovely lines she is called up on to speak. Her disguised young girl is wistfully pale, staunchly loyal and as sweetly feminine as any girl can be in a page boy suit. Richard Easton succeeds in playing the unhappy Orsino as a sorrowful man and not as a lovesick ass, which is not always easy to accomplish with this particular role. He is a convincing combination of manliness and languor.

Given the cast up to this point, the production of "Twelfth Night" is muscular and well-knit. That it does not remain so is due to the unfortunate casting of Louis Edmonds as Majvolio. The original program named Ellis Rabb as Malvolio and it is pleasant to speculate on the way this versatile actor would have outlined the character of the steward.

Why Edmonds took over the role we do not know. We can only say that he is a clean, blond young man who is unsuited to the part and who, apparently, has not had much experience with comic roles.

Philip Andrus' Sebastian is weak, also, chiefly because this pleasing young men has no particular feeling for Shakespeare. The lines fall flatly on the ear as Andrus speaks them.

FAIR ROSALIND: Jacqueline Brooks plays Shakespeare's heroine in the McCarter Theatre production of "As You Like It", opening Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

"Twelfth Night" will be given again at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 12, and at 8:30 p.m. March 18.

"AS YOU LIKE IT"

Next at McCarter. Allen Fletcher's production of Shakespeare's "As You Like It" will open this Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre as the fourth in the current APA Shakespeare series. It will play again on March 10 at 8:30 p.m. Thursday subscribers are reminded that there are only these two evening performances of "As You Like It."

Mr. Fletcher, who directed "Man and Superman" and "The Importance of Being Earnest" for McCarter last fall, has just completed a production of "H.M.S. Pinafore" for the New York City Center. He will offer an "As You Like It" which he calls "relatively realistic," set in an earth-bound forest, rather than in the magic wood of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Conrad Susa, composer of recent scores for "Borak" and "Moby Dick," has written six songs and choruses for "As You Like It." His music will be performed by a harpsichord and a group of ancient and modern chamber instruments.

Final performances are scheduled for "Twelfth Night," March 18; and "King Lear" on March 11.

PERIWIG PRESENTS

"Twelve Angry Men." The court - room drama, "Twelve Angry Men" will receive its first amateur production when members of the Lawrenceville Periwig Club present the play this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The play will be given free of charge at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Hall auditorium on the campus.

The original movie script has been revised for the stage by the author, Reginald Rose. Peter Candler, faculty director of the club, will direct. Leading roles will be played by Michael Alvicar, David Preefer, Walter Wagoner and Philip DeGuere.

"WOYZECK" PRESENTED

By Theatre Intime. George Buechner's psychological drama "Woyzeck," is a difficult play. Unfinished by the author in his lifetime, it was pieced together from manuscript fragments 40 years after his death in 1837 and not staged until another 35 years had passed. In view of these problems, it seems too ambitious a play for an amateur group, and that is the main problem with the current Theatre Intime production.

A psychological drama of a half-mad Leipzig soldier who cannot accept the absurd world around him, "Woyzeck" is filled with religious, poetic and sexual symbolism. Unfortunately, the cast itself gave the impression that it didn't understand much of the play and therefore was hardly in a position to communicate it effectively.

Another of the problems of presenting a play like "Woyzeck" is in the staging. It is a play in which too much action is taking place, and the small stage of Murray Theatre is inadequate. The small stage tends to let the characters dominate, and the quality of acting in the greater percent—Continued on Page 6 age of the cast hurts this practice.

In addition, there are a few scenes of questionable taste, both in action and dialogue. Perhaps the nebulous label of "art" is intended to justify such intrusions, but it also removes the production from the realm of entertainment.

One's first thought about Theatre Intime is that it is a shame an amateur group has to compete against McCarter Theatre's Shakespearean Repertory. After seeing what Intime has to offer, maybe it's a good thing there is some kind of alternative. "Woyzeck" will be presented nightly through Saturday, March 4, at 8:30 p.m.

CHILDREN WILL DANCE

For Heart Fund. Sixty-five children, age four and up, will appear in "Holiday Fantasy," the 13th annual production of the Peggy Bayer School of Dance. The show, whose proceeds will benefit heart research will be held on March 17 in the Princeton High School auditorium.

Among the stars in the forthcoming production are Roxy Tibbals, Carol Thach, Barry and Mark Hoffman and Peggy Bayer.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Facts of Life (March 1-7) is Hollywood's answer to the question, "What can we have Bob Hope and Lucille Ball do that they haven't already done a hundred times on TV?" The answer: "Have them talk about adultery."

The plot, which deals with the obstacles modern suburban life places in the path of extra-marital hanky-panky, is vivacious, but it is more productive of nervous laughter than spontaneous hilarity. Miss Ball and Hope are no Method actors, and they give the impression in this film of being stand-up comedians dealing with material slightly bluer than usual.

This is not to say that the picture doesn't have its moments, but the underlying leer is unpleasant. Ruth Hussey and Don De Fore are also in the cast.

Where the Boys Are (March 8-11) purports to expose, in humorous fashion, what happens each spring at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., when the hordes of college students arrive to spend their Easter vacations. It has about as much to do with college life as "Blackboard Jungle" did, but the situations are occasionally funny in a mechanical sort of way.

The chief players, all of whom are nine years old, are Delores Hart, George Hamilton, Yvette Mimieux and Connie Francis. Their thespic credentials are not evident, but they all have nice straight teeth.

The story involves a bunch of alleged college girls who go to Fort Lauderdale with the objective of finding true love while protecting their chastity. Miss Hart stays pure and wins a Brown student. Miss Mimieux doesn't, and she is run down by a car. There's a moral here for all of us, but we're not clear whether it has to do with sex or safe driving.

The film is in CinemaScope and color.

THE GARDEN

General Della Rovere (February 28-March 4), which has already won a number of festival awards, is a fine Italian film directed by Roberto Rossellini and starring Vittorio de Sica.

Set in Italy during World War II, it traces the career of de Sica, who begins as an unscrupulous gambler and fixer, and rises to humanity and maturity. In a Nazi-sponsored plot, de Sica agrees to pose as an Italian general who has actually already been killed by the Germans. His reactions to the suffering and patriotism of his countrymen are studied with intelligence and perception, and Rossellini's unique ability to create suspense is constantly in evidence.

The film is in Italian and French with English subtitles. Recommended.

The Great Man (March 6), made in 1956, is an attack, particularly relevant now, on the frequent falsity of "public images." Television star Herb Fuller, "America's Most Beloved Humorist," has died, and his heir apparent is handed the job of getting together an hour-long show eulogizing the great man. As he proceeds to investigate the realities of Fuller's life, the new man, played by Jose Ferrer, is appalled to find that America's family hero was in fact a depraved liar and cheat.

In addition to starring in the picture, Ferrer also directed it with power and co-authored the screenplay with Al Morgan, from whose novel it was taken. The rest of the cast includes Dean Jagger, Keenan Wynn, Ed Wynn and Julie London, all of whom are impeccable. There's a little implausible melodrama at the end, but this is a valuable film. Recommended.

Ballad of a Soldier (March 7-11). The Soviets may like boy-meets-tractor stuff for home consumption, but when they produce one of their rare export films they don't fool around. "Ballad of a Soldier" doesn't break any new ground, but it is a sensitive and brilliantly-produced study of the baleful effects of war on the individuals caught up in it.

Vladimir Ivashov and Shanna Prokhorenko portray a young couple, deeply involved in a futile love affair. The film centers around them, but the members of the supporting cast, each of whom is injured emotionally by the war, are uniformly good. In Russian with English titles, "Ballad of a Soldier" is a solid achievement. Recommended.

DEAR TRAVELEX,

We're going to try this seven day cruise to Nassau to see what it's like. Sounds like lots of fun and boys oh boys this sure is the right time of year for it.

I bought a new dress and a new bathing suit and I'm all set to go! The dress is a shirtwaist cotton with a very full pleated skirt—all orange and yellow half-inch stripes.

Looks very Carribeanish and the bathing suit has bright pink flowers all over it. Oh my, I do love new clothes!

Ship ahoy!

OPEN BARN

From Same Architect. Those of you who remember with awe the $50 handmade barn that Stuff 'n Nonsense had at Christmas time will want to look at an open barn from the drawing board of the same architect.

This barn—a mere $17—is a 30x14 inch box without a top. It has been painted good barn red on the outside and white on the inside, and it has been fitted with two or three stalls and a feed trough.

One enters, if one is farmer or cow, through wide sliding doors across the back of the barn (little doors that really slide, with hand slits to pull them with). If one is a farmer, one enters through one of two Dutch doors in front of the barn. These doors swing out and back on invisible hinges so artfully set into the wood that you will have to ask a carpenter how it was done.

(In case you have forgotten, Stuff's wooden barns are made by hand by a retired architect.)

In the Remco labs, where lights burn late and hot, they have been working over a new kind of science kit. It is now out of the lab and into the market and you may buy it—or rather, them—at Stuff. The kits come in a cylindrical container that looks like a tomato-juice can. Each one costs $1.

You may choose among Mechanical Physics, Optical Illusions, Electro - Magnetism, Printed Circuitry, Electric Motor, Jet Propulsion, Chemistry and so on. There is a list of possible experiments on the side of the can, so you know when you buy "Electric Motor" that you've got a brush assembly and when you buy "Optical Illusion" you get invisible ink, and so on.

For daughters, whose interests may be at an opposite pole, Stuff has Spatter Fun, a set consisting of framed screen, stencils of rabbits, stars, leaves and the like, and colors and brushes to do spatter printing. In the hands of a dedicated and energetic little girl spatter printing can be—but the paints are washable, so who cares?

For 15 cents you may buy one-inch hard plastic figures of everybody in Disneyland except Walt himself. Snow White, Dumbo, Figaro, etc. etc., are all available; in fact, there are 34 characters to choose from and if you're really a Disney fan, you may save money by buying them all for $4. It does save money: figure it out.

Le Train Magique, or if you prefer, El Tren Magico, consists of an aggressive little engine and four detachable cars, all made of wood and brightly painted. You pull the little train along by touching a magnetized hammer to the engine headlight.

The magnet is strong enough to pull the engine if the hammer is a full half-inch away, and if that isn't magic, well! Anybody tell Remco about this one? Train comes in two sizes; one is about 12 inches long, including engine ad cars; other about 16 inches.

For a soil-less garden, you plant marigolds, grass or watercress in a medium that looks like vermiculite. With this German garden you get a booklet which is really quite informative. It describes various home experiments like planting a date pit and watching it sprout (a date pit!).

It also shows young botanists how to take slips and root plants. Very educational, and so quiet!

POUR THE TEQUILA

Mexican Decanters. The plain, slightly flawed glass of Mexico has been used for some new decanters on the shelves at Rina Galleries, 11 Charlton Street.

In a sense, these are not decanters at all but drinking vessels. They are made like flasks but the usual elongated neck has been bent over to one side. From the other side juts a cone of glass with a tiny hole in its tip. Tilt the glass and your head and pour the wine into your throat from the opening in the cone without touching the glass to your lips. $3.50.

Other Mexican imports include a blown glass pitcher with a wide flat bottom and a graceful neck. The glass is pale grey-brown with a deep brown edge around the pouting lip and a handle paler than the body.

A Mexican bowl in matte black has a hand of pebbled rust around its girth like a rubber tire. The inside is green glaze. A square Mexican bowl has swollen, bulbous corners.

The Mexican baskets are as big as wastebaskets or as small as nut bowls. They are ropes of bright purple, turquoise, raspberry and gold coiled to make bright touches of primitive color.

What's a Toy?

One of the fixtures at Stuff 'n Nonsense is a stalwart plastic steam-engine crane which can be sat on, manipulated, driven and chug-chugged around house and garden until its owner is too big to sit on it any more. Any time you go into the toy shop you will see small customers looking at it with solemn reverence, mentally adding up their allowances.

At Van Zandt's, in Blawenburg, is the new Cub Cadet which you may read about in more detail elsewhere in this column. This is a stalwart little tractor which can be sat on, manipulated, driven and chug-chugged around the yard until the owner is too old to climb up on it any more.

At Van Zandt's the other day, we saw big customers looking at it with solemn reverence, mentally balancing the bank book. Doesn't matter how old a man is: when he looks at a piece of machinery, he gets that look in his eye.

But this is a shop that specializes in Israeli crafts. Here is the handsomest bread tray you could imagine: a two-foot spear of copper only four inches wide, etched with four lines that follow, roughly, the attenuated oval of the tray. The copper has been washed with a substance that looks like silver, but probably isn't. There's a copper handle to hang it from. Price: $11.95.

In the same vein of copper, so to speak, are cigarette boxes, book - ends and a door-knocker the size and outline of a hand. These pieces are "silver" washed also, traced with line designs and punctuated with a red or a blue stone.

The pottery from Israel, all of it signed by its maker, is varied in form and texture. Some pieces are indistinguishable from the earth itself, like a low little bowl. Others, like a bright mug, are bright with glaze. The mug is light rust with a black handle and a black band around its bottom.

In the jewelry tray, Rina has amber and silver cuff-links with the long oval stone set in dull-finish metal. Deep red amber has been set into etched silver earrings. Amber lies in the center of a pewter-finish silver bracelet fashioned of separated bars of silver, rather like a four-line staff of music. The center, "five line" portion provides the back-

One of the most gratifying aspects of being in the heating business is found in those occasions when either a long time or prospective customer is plagued with a heating problem that he brings to our attention.

His problem may be using too much oil, a cold room at the end of the house, insufficient heat, or a lack of hot water to satisfy his family needs.

The satisfaction comes when we call on our twenty-eight years of experience and often in a matter of minutes are able to diagnose the trouble.

We are sincerely pleased by the customer's real pleasure and disappointed that that customer had put up with his trouble, in many cases, for years.

A typical example was seen this week in Pennington where two different families had lived in the same house over a period of years. Both were closing the dampers downstairs in order to heat the rooms upstairs and then reversing the situation when the downstairs cooled off.

The solution in this instance called upon broad experience. Yet, the correction was made in less than twenty minutes working time with no cost for replacement parts.

At the Princeton Fuel Oil Company, we pride ourselves with being the oldest heating oil distributer in the area. This experience combined with the technical schooling of our service people enables us to correct many a heating problem that many homeowners have tolerated for years.

Perhaps you have a heating or air conditioning problem or interest that you would have us check.

BROWNING TO PLAY

In Series 1 Concert. John Browning, who belongs to the younger generation of pianists, will give a recital Monday at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre in the fourth of the Princeton University Concerts, Series 1. All seats have been sold by subscription, but 50 standing room tickets will go on sale at McCarter at 7:30 Monday evening. There are no reservations for these tickets.

For his Princeton program, Mr. Browning has chosen Bach's Partita No. 2 in C Minor; Beethoven's Sonata No. 21 in C Major, Opus 53 (the "Waldstein"); four Mazurkas and the Scherzo in C Sharp Minor by Chopin; "Evocation" and "El Puerto" from Albeniz' "Iberia", Book I, and Sonata, Opus 26 by Samuel Barber.

TWO PROGRAMS OFFERED

By Friends of Music. Yfrah Neaman, violinist and Edward Cone, pianist will be heard in two programs of music for violin and piano to be offered this Sunday and March 12 at 3:15 in Procter Hall of the Graduate College.

For this Sunday, the program will consist of Bach's Sonatas No. 2 in A Major, No. 5 in F Minor and No. 3 in E Major and Webern's "Vier Stuecke," Opus 7. The Webern work will be repeated in the second half of the program.

For March 12, the program will include three other Bach Sonatas and Dallapiccola's "Due Studi." The programs are open to the public without charge.

Mr. Neaman is well-known in Princeton audiences from previous appearances here, which include a recital of contemporary music in the spring of 1959. Mr. Cone has been on the faculty in the music department of the University since 1946. He is now a full professor in the department.

RAY CHARLES ENTERTAINS

In Dillon Gym. The genius of Ray Charles has many facets, as most of the crowd of 2,500 who saw him perform Saturday night would tell you. Moving from slow, intimate jazz instrumentals to the modern sounds of rock 'n roll, Charles maintains a style that is complete uninhibited and completely his own.

Backed by a seven-piece orchestra, of which five were brasses, Charles began each half of his program with instrumental pieces which showed off the individual abilities of his sidemen and his own facility on the electric organ. The crowd, however, seemed impatient with these opening offerings and waited for his singing.

Carefully programming his act, Charles began the vocal arrangements with slow rhythm 'n blues numbers such as "Ruby" and "Georgia on My Mind." These, to ears usually unimpressed with the modern sound of rock 'n roll, were by far the most satisfying sounds of the evening. Charles throws himself completely into a song and the result is a vocal jazz both easy and pleasant to listen to.

Much to the majority's enjoyment, however, Charles eliminated his first act with a group of rock 'n roll arrangements. The wild, driving finish rose to its peak with the blind singer's rendition of "What'd I Say?," the modern audience participation equivalent of "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

Unfortunately, microphone trouble hampered the second act, limiting the program almost entirely to instrumentals, to the disappointment of most of the younger people. Considering that the same problem occurred at the Junior Prom with the Flamingoes and has happened at recent sporting events, one wonders why productions, such as those of PEB, continue to rely on sound systems provided by WPRB rather than professional technicians.

Also on the program was a quartet of girls called the Raelets which could only be described as shrill. Disregarding lyrics in favor of sheer lung power, the girls accompanied Charles on the rock 'n roll numbers, and, at least, provided a striking contrast to Charles' own deep-throated voice. Despite the technical difficulties, however, the genius of the man in any of the fields in which he chose to display it was immediately evident, and the respect and admiration one must feel for someone who has overcome his personal handicaps is immense.

For wedding or graduation gifts, Rina suggests any of the drawings and etchings of Ries, for sale at $20 to $50, framed. Choose the linoleum block print "Angel" with its gold halo against the dark tones of the print, or the etchings "Skeleton" and "Those Who Sit in Darkness."

MEET THE NEW TRACTOR

For Lawn and Gardeo. International Harvester, and incidentally, Van Zandt's in Blawenburg, is quite proud of a new 7 hp Cub Cadet tractor which has been assigned such chores as mowing, lawn sweeping seeding, fertilizing, raking, rolling, earthmoving, plowing, tilling, hauling and even snow clearing, but we won't talk about that.

The Cub Cadet is 62 inches long, 36 inches high, with a five-quart fuel tank and a turning radius of 6.7 feet. It has an enclosed transmission and final drive and a common clutch and brake pedal which engages the clutch in the first half of travel and actuates the brakes in the final half. It also has a graduated steering ratio for easy control and fast response.

You'll want to consider three tools which you can use with this tractor: Harvester's 38-inch rotary mower, a front-mounted blade and a tilting two-wheel trailer. You can also buy a disc plow, rake, lawn roller, aerator, snow blower and son on. Van Zandt will give you the word on price and availability.

Cooperate for a Pool.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

Princeton Township is again studying the possibility of a municipal swimming pool.

Councilmen Angus Austen has sounded a call for the Borough to respond before it is too late.

Our summers are usually unpleasant. Most citizens of Princeton cannot leave town for extended periods, and many cannot leave at all, during our hot and humid weather.

A few of our townsmen have private pools, a few more belong to "swimming clubs." But for the great majority these facilities are out of reach, due to cost, distance, limited membership, or all three.

One of the glaring lacks in this very lovely town is adequate recreation, particularly for children and young people too old for the playground system.

If we are wise and civilized —and we are prone to boast both qualities — we will say to the Township, "Let us cooperate in making a really first rate 'community' pool for all our people. Let us share in planning, paying, managing and using this badly needed asset. We can build something we each want, but it can be better and happier for all if we tackle it together than it will be if we attempt it separately."

Prize certificates in a tie for second place at Witherspoon were presented to Penny Brooks and Jonathan Ratner, with Jean Furness, Connie Mather and Bryant Johnson awarded honorable mentions.

CHAMBER GIVES COURSE

In Practical Politics. The Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council will again sponsor an "Action Course in Practical Politics," open to business people in the Princeton community. The course will begin next Thursday at 8 p.m. The Chamber will inform registrants of the location.

William F. Doan of the Princeton University Store will be discussion leader for the nine-week course. He will use material developed by the Chamber in the fields of party organization, political campaigning, precinct activity and persuading the electorate.

SUMMER SESSION SET

By Country Day School. The second summer session offered by Princeton Country Day School will begin June 26 and run through August 4. This summer, eight courses will be available to students entering junior high and high school. The courses are not remedial. The total fee for two courses is $100 plus the cost of books.

Students entering grades 6, 7 and 8 may take developmental reading, music appreciation or beginning art. Those of high school age may choose two courses from exploratory mathematics, creative writing, beginning Greek, readings in Latin and readings in ancient history.

If there is sufficiet interest, Russian and developmental reading will be offered to high school students, and beginning French to those entering the junior high school grades. Further information may be obtained from Princeton Country Dey School, Broadmead, WA 4-1031.

OBEDIENCE TRIAL SET

By Dog Training Club. The fourth annual obedience trial of the Princeton Dog Training Club will be held Sunday from 10 to 3 in the High School gymnasium. Dogs will compete for ribbons, prizes and American Kennel Club degrees.

No dogs except those entered in the trial will be allowed in the gym. Admission charges will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

Question of the Week

Question: What one opinion do you have that you feel most people probably would not share?

Where asked: Around town.

Mrs. Carolyn Kinney, 108 Stockton Street, housewife: I think men should pick out women's hats. They should be interested in women's clothing as a whole. I think men's taste in women's clothes is usually more correct than women's.

Mrs. Bernard Leenaer, Hopewell secretary for Spencer Associates: I agree with Vance Packard in his book, "The Status Seekers," that a lot of people are seeking status. Personally, I don't care about my status. And I say this is different.

Mrs. Harry Finc, 8 Greenhalm, housewife: I can think of something most Russians would disagree with: I think it would be chaos if Dag Hammarskjold were ousted from the United Nations.

Mrs. Marian Rogers, 20 Haslet Avenue, housewife: I think the wives of servicemen overseas should be allowed to stay in government housing rather than in public housing.

Mrs. Renee Weber, Belle Mead, housewife: None, what do you think I am — subversive?

Miss Beatrice Miers, 131 Bayard Lane, executive director, Princeton Chamber of Commerce: You are never too busy or too old to continue to learn or to care about other people.

Mrs. Philip Silver, 402-A Butler Avenue, housewife: I feel public education should start before the age of 6. I think children should start serious school at five. I think the tendency is to wait until the child is apparently ready to learn without doing any forcing. I believe a year is wasted.

Mrs. Arthur Link, 26 Mercer Street, housewife: I think there should be just two school levels: there shouldn't be a junior high school in the middle. I think it is lost motion to have so many facilities, buildings and equipment. It is less economical. It is an added transfer for a child and he doesn't gain educationally.

John McKinney, 104 Grover Avenue, student, Valley Road School: That my jokes are the best.

Michael J. Fuschini, 3rd, 25 Witherspoon Street, clerk: I think everyone should work eight hours a day, six days a week. Forty-eight hours should be a standard work week. Everybody's talking about recession today and yet everyone is asking for shorter hours an more pay. It just doesn't make sense. If people would work longer, they would make more money and this extra money would help the economy. Most people just sit around and do nothing on Saturday anyway.

David Bodanberg, 71 Moran Avenue, instructor, Princeton University: I think that Yale is just as good a university as Princeton.

William D. Pettit, Ridgeview Road, investment banker: That teenagers are really wonderful people.

David Kelsey, Cranbury Neck Road, Plainsboro, dairy farmer: I think they should put better steel in cars and do away with the tin. They're nothing but beer cans on wheels with a motor in them.

Peter Loch, 414-B Devereux Avenue, graduate student, mathematics: That I always know what I am talking about is one thing I could say, but I think an opinion that I have that other people wouldn't share is that I actually do have an opinion that other people would share.

Miss Amy Vail, Skillman, owner of hosiery business: That a woman should set her own styles in clothing. I would say that 93 per cent of the women would say I was nuts for wearing clothes that were not in fashion. Pointed shoes were all the rage a year ago, although now they are beginning to get slightly squared off. But I have always worn pointed shoes. I wore them even when it meant having them specially made and paying custom prices. I wore them because I was comfortable in them and they were the proper style for me. For once people aren't talking about my pointed shoes, now that they are in style.

Edward White, Laughlin Hall, student: Probably my feeling about religion. I found that my religion was based on nothing more absolute than faith. Everyone says you have got to have faith. My opinion is why should you? One could just as easily take the opposite view: have faith that God doesn't exist. I doubt if many people whould share this opinion.

DEMOCRATS TO ORGANIZE

In Princeton Township. Plans for setting up a formal Democratic Party organization in Princeton Township have been announced by a group of previous Democratic candidates for Township offices. They include Mrs. Edward F. D'Arms, William Marvel, Richard Frost, Simeon Moss, Henry Dyer and James Foley.

The new organization is to be known as the Democratic Forum of Princeton Township. Through the participation of its members, the Democratic Forum will adopt positions on current Township problems and on state, national and international issues.

In a statement issued in connection with the announcement of the new organization, the group said: "Over the years, our roles in the Borough Democratic Club have been most helpful to us. Under the guidance of its able experienced leaders we have learned a great deal, and we now want to put this knowledge to work in our Township organization."

Gordon Huhel is chairman of the steering committee for organization of the Democratic Forum, with James Foley and Simeon Moss as vice chairmen. First meeting of the new group is planned for early April. In the meantime, those interested in further information are asked to get in touch with any member of the organizing group.

Ten-year employees are Mrs. Margaret Anderson, Mrs. John J. Dean, Mrs. James Forsyth, Mrs. Guerino A. Freda, Albert L. Hibbard, Mrs. James J. Higgins and Mrs. Ulysses S. Johnson, all of Princeton.

Also Mrs. Edyth Bishop, Belle Mead; Miss Barbera Hillhouse, Kingston; Charles L. Kelch and Mrs. Charles Krepp, Trenton; Mrs. Victor Shaw, Jamesburg; and John Dobbin, who is now working for ETS in Florida.

The low-price compact that looks and drives like twice the price!

Valiant's the compact that rarely complains

(just like the Valiant owners you know!)

What makes Valiant, and the people who own it, so easy going?

For one thing, nagging annoyances that beset many other car bodies have been engineered out of Valiant's one-piece welded Unibody. And out where the road bumps are, Valiant's Torsion-Aire suspension stays smooth as milk 'n' honey.

Remember, too, Valiant's low prices begin $100 lower than last year. And because Valiant's built the way it is, it's bound to rate high at resale time.

For looks and liveliness, for long life and low cost, the top compact this year is Valiant. Come see the man who sells them!

TIGER QUINTET HOPEFUL

Of Nalling Down Title. If the plans that went slightly awry last week can be carried to a successful conclusion this weekend, Princeton's basketball team will win its second successive Ivy League title shortly before 9:30 Saturday night.

A defeat at Hanover by a Dartmouth team that was no better than 3-7 in the standings cost the Tigers a chance to wrap up the championship earlier. The 73-69 loss to a strictly mediocre Indian quintet (which Yale, Penn and Columbia had all trimmed at Hanover) indicates more of the difficulty in NCAA competition which has plagued Princeton teams in every post-season tournament they have entered.

Actually, the trip was almost a real disaster, the defending champions having to come from behind to top Harvard Friday at Cambridge. The last-place Crimson hit for an Ivy high this season when it amassed 62 points in the first 20 minutes, overshadowing the Tigers' good total of 44.

The home team turned cold after the intermission, and top-flight shooting and rebounding by Al Kaemmerlen paced a drive that brought an 80-73 triumph. The five starters went the distance, and all hit double figures, paced by Kaemmerlen's 25.

ROLLS 299 GAME: Joe Baldino, 511 Ewing Street, shot a 299 game at the Princeton Recreation Center in the Mercer County Traveling League for the highest game ever bowled there. The previous high was 298 by Pete Pranis in May, 1941. Baidino left a ten-pin on his 12th ball which was described by observers to have been a perfect hit.

Defense Sags at Hanover. Hot outside shooting by a pair of Dartmouth sophomores, Bob West and Steve Spahn, was more than Princeton could match Saturday night. George Ramming, league-lead in g scorer, was held to 11 in another standout performance by Kaemmerlen (who got 20 himself) but West and Spahn totalled 47 between them to twist the Tiger's tail.

Pete Campbell, who has had trouble matching the shooting form he showed sophomore year, could sink only a third of his shots from the floor and settled for 16 points. Art Hyland was able to contribute only four, the losers' disappointing performance coming against a team which has had visible defensive difficulties all season long.

Dartmouth will be here Friday night at 8, with Harvard following Saturday. Victors in Dillon Gym in their last 20 league games, the Tigers are unlikely to lose this opportunity to wrap up the championship.

Should they falter, however, real trouble lies ahead, since second-place Pennsylvania plays its remaining three games in the Palestra. Harverd Friday, Dartmouth Saturday and Princeton next Wednesday will complete the Quakers' schedule, and if the Orange and Black should lose here this weekend, it could very conceivably wind up in a 10-4 deadlock and playoff with Penn.

HOCKEY SEASON TO END

Saturday against Dartmouth. A Dartmouth hockey team which topped Princeton, 6-2, at Hanover earlier this winter will close the Tigers' season Saturday at 2 in Baker Rink. A victory will assure the Orange and Black of a third-place finish in the Ivy League.

Cornell's young sextet made trouble for league-leading Harvard and won its first game in history against Dartmouth but got nowhere with Princeton this season. The 6-1 loss to the Tigers at Ithaca was followed by a 5-1 setback here Saturday.

Johnny Cook hit for a pair of goals, with his sophomore teammates, Dave Hersey, Jim Hyland and Austie Sullivan collecting the others. As it had at Ithaca, the Red scored first and then fell before Princeton's superior shooting despite the standout work of its goalie, Leing Kennedy.

INTERCOLLEGIATES HERE

In Swimming Next Weekend. The Eastern Intercollegiate Swimming Championships, which will draw approximately 350 entries from more than a score of collgees, will be staged next weekend in Dillon Pool. Returning to Princeton for the first time since 1952, the three-day marathon begins Thursday night and runs through Saturday.

All varsity teams save the basketball quintet will complete their regular seasons this weekend. The swimmers, who were 66-29 victims of Yale last Saturday, will travel to Annapolis to meet Navy. The winless wrestlers, first Princeton team in this sport to go through the season without a triumph, head for Cornell and the fencers take on Cornell in Dillon Gym Saturday at 2.

PHS LOSES TWO MORE

To Hightstown and Hamilton. The 15th and 16th defeats on Princeton High School's basketball record were chalked up last week as the Little Tigers succumbed to Hightstown and Hamilton.

In the Hightstown contest Friday, both teams were credited with 13 field goals but 16 free shots for the victors to nine for the visiting Princetonians made the difference. Gil Fisher contributed nine points for PHS in the 42-35 setback.

It was close but no cigar against Hamilton, which took home a 56-54 verdict. The defeat hinged on the losers' inability to stop Ron Mata, who was credited with no less than 40 of his team's 56 points.

The Little Tigers held a 12-10 lead at the end of the first period, were in front at various times thereafter and trailed by only a point with three minutes to go. Eventually, however, they dropped their 16th game against a single victory.

HUN ELIMINATED

From Prep School Tourney. A first round, 73-62 loss to Eastern Christian Saturday eliminated the Hun School basketball team from Group 3 competition in the New Jersey Independent Schools Athletic Association Basketball Tournament. As a result of the loss, only two more games on the Red and Black schedule remain to be played: a game against Moorestown Friday and the Monday finale with Pennington School, both in the Princeton Seminary Gymnasium.

Although it hit on 46 percent of its shots, Hun was the victim of even more accurate shooting by Eastern Christian as the north Jersey school connected on a torrid 54 percent and 21 of 34 free throws to earn the win. "They were hotter than a pistol; everything they threw up went in," said Hun coach Dan Barren.

Last Wednesday, Hun won a game from the foul line when it edged Moorestown, 65-51. Both teams made 21 field goals but visiting Hun outscored the losers from the charity line, 14-9. For Hun, which trailed by one point at the half, it was the fifth Penn-Jersey League win in eight outings.

the expense of winless RCA Astro. Three weeks of play remain in the six-team league.

Vince Boccanfuso scored 14 points to pace RCA to its seventh win, a 50-27 verdict over its company teammates, RCA Astro. In other league action, the 3 B's moved up to challenge second - place YMCA when it walloped Opinion Research, 66-32. Ray Cevera scored the evening's high tin ranking 29 points for the victors while Ray Tamasi once again tallied the bulk of ORC's points, connecting this time for 21.

YMCA kept one game ahead of the 3 B's when it administered a 53-27 defeat to Food Machinery. Dave Cramp with 11 and Lenny Krauss and Jack Nolan with nine each led the YMCA quintet. Jim Wagner had eight for FMC.

LARRIES WIN FIRST

In Basketball Tourney. Lawrenceville School's basketball team pulled out a 48-47 victory in overtime against Admiral Farragut Academy Saturday to move into the second round of the New Jersey Independent Schools Athletic Association Basketball Tournament. The Red and Black was scheduled to meet Bordentown Military Academy on Wednesday.

Chuck Miller sank a free throw after time had run out in the overtime period to give Lawrenceville its first round triumph. He had been fouled at the buzzer.

Miller, who took game scoring honors with 27 points, had tied the score at 41-41 to send the game into overtime. His set shot again knotted the count at 47-47 in the overtime period.

Two Lawrenceville swimmers captured first places in the 61st annual Eastern Interscholastic Swimming Championships Saturday at the Lavino Field House pool. The Larrie team finished second in the prep school division with 48 points, one point behind winning Hill School.

Dave O'Brien took first place in the 50-yard freestyle in 23.3 seconds, while Jon Evans won the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:07.2. Evans set a meet record of 1:06.7 in the afternoon trial heat. The old mark was 1:06.8, set by Gardner Green, now a Princeton sophomore, in 1957.

Lawrenceville's 200-yard medley relay team also set a meet record, covering the distance in 1:46.3. Evans, O'Brien, Jerry Strater and Bob Greenstein made up the Larrie team.

The Red and Black hockey team closed its season by trouncing Trinity - Pawling School, 10-0, on the Lavino ice last Wednesday. The victory gave the Larries a 4-9 overall record.

WOMEN'S SQUASH HELD At Pretty Brook Club. Eighteen residents of Princeton were among the 27 entrants in the New Jersey Women's State Squash Tournament held last weekend at the Pretty Brook Tennis Club. The winner was Mrs. Donald Manly-Power of Philadelphia, who defeated Mrs. Walter Mahony of Chappaque, 13-15, 15-8, 15-7, 15-12.

In the consolation finals, Mrs. Carl White of Princeton was the winner over Mrs. Hollis Tegarden of Princeton, 15-5, 18-17, 15-12. Other Princeton entries were Mrs. John Clagborn, Mrs. Robert Clotworthy, Mrs. O. L. Corlette, Mrs. James Delano, Mrs. David Frothingham (who reached the semi-finals), Mrs. Hector Griswold, Mrs. Aubrey Huston, Mrs. Hallet Johnson Jr., Mrs. Arthur Mittnacht, Mrs. Michael Ramus, Mrs. Stella Reeves, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. James Thornton, Mrs. Lester Tibbals and Mrs. Alan Tredennick.

Arthur M. Sherwood, club president, presented the awards to the winners. Peter Rothermel and Dr. G. Hildick-Smith were the referees.

BOWLING NOTES

"C" Operations on Top. "C" Operations took sole control of first place in the Faculty League to highlight Princeton bowling action last week, but it was only a one-point margin over Physics (79). Matterhorn Design and MAAD were tied for third with 76 points each. In other action, Nassau Del (18) held a one-game lead over the Reformers in the Industrial loop, and Yeoman's (32) was eight points ahead of Shelton No. 1 in the "A" League.

Sports In Princeton

HARVARD WINS, 9-2

To Take Ivy Title. A two-goal lead which Princeton took early in the game melted quickly at Cambridge Tuesday night before the blast of Harvard's impressive offense. The Crimson staged a six-goal rally in the second period, its easy 9-2 victory wrapping up the Ivy League Hockey championship.

Perry Hall scored at 1:04 of the first round and Dave Hersey made it 2-0 11 minutes later. Harvard's outburst followed with the Crimson dominating the final two periods so thoroughly that the losers got only four shots on the cage in the final 40 minutes of action.

Johnny Cook was credited with an assist on both Princeton's goals to keep him high in the race for individual scoring honors. He will have a final shot at a first-place finish Saturday against Dartmouth.

Editor to Speak

Granville Hicks, contributing editor to the Saturday Review of Literature, will speak at the 11 a.m. service this Sunday in Princeton Unitarian Church. His topic will be "Our Searching Novelists" and will include readings from works of Saul Bellows and J. D. Salinger.

Dear Bill—

Some people think ALLIED HOMEOWNERS ASSOCIATION is a real estate office, it is not. After you buy your home, they help to efficiently and economically maintain it. By the way, speaking about efficiency, they have just changed their telephone number to include all Mercer County. They did not change their address at 76½ Nassau Street. Their new number is TW 6-0720.
